

Aging and Disability Resource Center Strategic Planning Webinar Today

The Texas Department of Aging and Disability Services (DADS) is seeking public input on a 3-year strategic plan for aging and disability resource centers (ADRCs) and their role within the No Wrong Door (NWD) system (a system which allows someone to call one number to receive information vs. calling multiple agencies). To obtain input on the development of this strategic plan, DADS will host five in-person listening forums and two statewide webinars. These forums will gather ideas, thoughts, and opinions about the current and future systems of access to long-term services and supports (LTSS). DADS specifically seeks input on the following issues:

- General public awareness of the ADRC/LTSS system
- Current system success, suggested improvements
- Person-centered planning
- Resource requirements
- Suggestions for sustainability
- Suggestions for improved service to all populations
- Future vision for the ADRC system (3 years and beyond)
- ADRC role with respect to managed care programs (e.g., STAR+)
